Societies of Criminology 1st Key Issues Conference

Paris Renaissance Hotel - May 13 - 15, 2004

THEME: What Works In Reducing Crime

We welcome you to this 1st Societies of Criminology Key Issues Conference. The primary goal of this conference is to examine evaluative research efforts of programs and initiatives that have demonstrated a positive impact upon the nature and extent of crime. By bringing together the professional societies of criminology worldwide, we hope that this conference will strengthen the level of cross-national research cooperation and advance the knowledge base regarding "What Works in Reducing Crime" in a global context. We hope to make these joint meetings bi-annual events, with the next tentatively scheduled for May of 2006.

The partners in this current conference are:

Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences

Thank You

A conference of this nature and magnitude requires the joint effort of numerous individuals, each contributing in different and significant ways. We thank Lawrence Sherman for his vision, Rosemary Barberet and Amy Nelson for their translations efforts, Pierre Tournier and the French Society of Criminology for their willingness to host this event, and Lindsey Jackson for her bookkeeping efforts. Last and obviously not least, we thank the association and society representatives who put together the substance of this meeting, as follows:

Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences
Richard Bennett
