50th ANNUAL MEETING OF THE AMERICAN SOCIETY OF CRIMINOLOGY, 1998 Washington, D.C.

Matthew T. Zingraff & Patricia L. McCall
North Carolina State University

Washington, D.C. provides a most appropriate setting for the theme that President Margaret Zahn has chosen for this year's meetings: Crime, Justice and Public Policy: Examining Our Past and Envisioning Our Future. In keeping with this theme, the 50th annual meeting of the American Society of Criminology promises to offer a rich array of plenary sessions, panel sessions, special lunch time presentations, author-meets-critics sessions, and table sessions that address theoretical and methodological developments, crime and justice policy, and the most current and significant research and scholarship in our field.

The social events supported by our friends at Anderson Publishing, The British Society of Criminology, Harcourt Brace-Canada, McGraw Hill Publishing, The National Institute of Justice, Sage Publications, and Wadsworth/West Publishing are sure to make these meetings memorable as well.

The Marriott Wardman Park Hotel provides a comfortable setting for the more than 500 sessions that have been scheduled. The hotel is conveniently located on the Metro which links you to the many offerings of the D.C.

area. We hope, however, that you will spend a substantial portion of each day at the meetings.

The local arrangements committee assures exciting tour offerings and has compiled reviews of local culinary adventures and cultural attractions. More information will be enclosed with your preregistration material and your registration packets. Once again, Ron Akers' Blue Grass Band and Larry Sherman's Hot Spots will provide the music for the ASC Minority Fellowship Dance. While tickets will be available at the door, we suggest that you complete the order form enclosed in your preregistration packet. We know you plan to be there, so why not get that detail out of the way early?

The 1998 program committee solicited special panel sessions for their respective divisions, located chairs and discussants for sessions, and processed more than 1900 papers for almost 2500 of our colleagues to create over 500 sessions. Their work has resulted in an excellent program. We hope you agree and we look forward to seeing you in November.

Interrogating Popular Culture: Deviance, Justice, and Social Order

Edited by Sean E. Anderson and Gregory J. Howard

IN A FEW WORDS: A collection of the best articles of the widely acclaimed, Journal of Criminal Justice and Popular Culture, with a Foreword by Philip Jenkins.

CONTENTS: Foreword by Philip Jenkins. 1. Culture, crime, and cultural criminology by Jeff Ferrell. 2. The horror of everyday life: Taxidermy, aesthetics, and consumption in horror films by Jeffrey Niesel. 3. Defining deviancy down or up: What does the future hold? by Andrew Karmen. 4. Myths and realities of frontier violence: A look at the gunfighter saga by Rainer Eisfeld. 5. Perceptions of the criminal justice system: Television imagery and public knowledge in the United States by Connie McNeely. 6. Father knows best: Patriarchal rage and the horror of personality film by Francis Shor. 7. Teaching the culture of mental illness by Chris Amirault. 8. Comics: A tool of subversion? by Jeff Williams. 9. A short story: An unconventional way to teach and report prison research by J. Forbes Farmer.

RECOMMENDED: Any class on social deviance MUST use this book. Deviance and control have become embedded in popular culture and media filtration. Excellent for upper division undergraduate classes on deviance, social control, media and communications, popular culture and criminal justice.

AVAILABLE: March, 1998. 130 pages. Index. ISBN 0-911577-42-4. Paper. Price: $18.50.

Situational Crime Prevention: Successful Case Studies, 2nd Edition

by Ronald Clarke

IN A FEW WORDS: Professor Herman Goldstein said of the first edition "...a superb collection of case studies that goes to the heart of what policing is all about." This popular and groundbreaking book has been substantially revised and expanded. The extensively revised introduction will feature: A revised and extended classification of 16 techniques of situational crime prevention; an expanded discussion of displacement and diffusion of benefits; a discussion of the appropriateness of the evaluative designs employed in the case studies; a discussion of why situational crime prevention projects may fail; fuller consideration of ethical problems.

CONTENTS: In addition to 12 case studies from the first edition, new case studies include: 1. Eliminating pay phone toll fraud at the Port Authority Bus Terminal in Manhattan. 2. Preventing autotheft in suburban Vancouver commuter lots: Effects of a bike patrol. 3. Safe Transport: Security by Design on the Washington Metro. 4. Problem-oriented policing and drug market locations. 5. Steering column locks and motor vehicle theft: Evaluations from three countries. 6. Preventing pay phone damage. 7. Preventing pub and club-related violence: The Surfers Paradise Community Action Project. 8. Refund fraud in retail stores. 9. Displacement vs. diffusion of benefits and the reduction of inventory losses in a retail environment. 10. Defining and measuring the benefit of electronic article surveillance. 11. Juggling with Housing Allowances: Preventing welfare fraud. 12. CCTV in Three British Cities.

RECOMMENDED: An indispensable handbook for the crime prevention specialist. Tremendously useful for the undergraduate and graduate classroom. First edition adopted widely in the United States, Europe and Australia.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY 1997. ISBN 0911577386 (paper): $25.50. ISBN 0911577394 (hard): $64.00

Policing in Indian Country

by Michael L. Barker

IN A FEW WORDS: What are the problems faced by police who work in Indian country? Barker's study, based on extensive interviews and reviews of published material by police departments in Indian country, offers a rare glimpse into the ways in which Indian territories are policed, especially their organization, and the way police officers think about their work.

CONTENTS: Preface by David Bayley. 1. Traditional American Indian Methods of Social Control. 2. Evolution of the Contemporary American Indian Policing Structure. 3. The Legislative Attack on Traditional Native Social Control. 4. The Jurisdictional Challenges to Native Social Control. 5. An American Indian Tribal Policing Department. 6. The Traditionalist Alternative: Does It Exist? Bibliography. Index.

RECOMMENDED: The lucid and accessible style of this book make it an excellent choice for upper division undergraduate and graduate courses in minorities and criminal justice.

AVAILABLE: May, 1998. 135 pages. ISBN: 0-911577-44-0. Paperback. $19.50.

Child Maltreatment: A Primer in History, Public Policy and Research--2nd edition

by Clifford K. Dorne

Revised edition of Crimes against Children. Foreword by Graeme Newman

IN A FEW WORDS: Substantially revised and extended edition of the widely regarded classic on child abuse. "No book comes close to Dorne's ability to cast child maltreatment into the criminal justice framework, while simultaneously keeping the medical and welfare approaches clearly in view..." --from the Foreword.

CONTENTS: 1. A Clarification of Concepts. 2. Historical Background. 3. The "Medicalization" of Child Maltreatment. 4. Legislating Toward Social Welfare. 5. The Juvenile Court and Child Protective Services. 6. Criminal Justice Processing of Child Abusers. 7. The Research Data on Child Maltreatment. 8. Concluding Remarks. References. Index.

RECOMMENDED: Excellent text for undergraduate or graduate courses in child abuse, social control, social deviance, child protection, juvenile justice, family studies and domestic violence.

AVAILABLE: Jan. 1998. ISBN: 0-911577-43-2. 224 pages. $22.00 paper.

Corrections: A Humanistic Approach

by Hans Toch

IN A FEW WORDS: Professor Toch's steady voice of reason in the midst of the panic and crises that beset out corrections systems today is a welcome haven for those fed up with the loud cries of "nothing works." "...has the most insight into how things really work behind prison walls" —Corrections Compendium.

CONTENTS: Part 1. Where are prisons today? Introductory note. 1. Prison policy in the nineties. 2. Warehouses for people? 3. "Just deserts" prisons? 4. Functional unit management. Part 2. Reforming the prisons Introductory note. 5. A revisionist view of prison reform. 6. If DeTocqueville were with us today. 7. Rewarding convicted offenders. 8. Enhancing the quality of survival in prisons. 9. Democratizing prisons. 10. Inmate involvement in prison governance. Part 3. Reforming Prisoners Introductory note. 11. Correctional rehabilitation. 12. Psychological treatment of convicted offenders. 13. Regenerating prisoners through education. 14. Inmate classification as a transaction. 15. Dealing with long-termers and old-timers. Part 4. Working with disturbed prisoners Introductory note. 16. Ruminations about prison mental health work. 17. Mainlining disturbed offenders. 18. Coping with noncoping inmates. 19. The disturbed disruptive inmate. 20. Managing the disturbed disruptive inmate RECOMMENDED: This is the only text that deals with prison reform in a calm and enlightened manner. Essential for any upper division course on corrections, perfect for any course on change in criminal justice, and prison reform. Save your students from today's cynicism! They'll find hope in this book.

AVAILABLE: 1997. ISBN: 0911577408 (paper): $22.00 ISBN 0911577416 (hard): $62.50

Dr. Tittle has served on several ASC committees and program committees. He has served three terms on the Editorial Advisory Board of Criminology and two terms as editor of Criminology. Dr. Tittle was named an ASC Fellow in 1991 and received the Michael J. Hindelang Award in 1997 (Control Balance 1995). Additionally, he was recipient of the Albert J. Reiss Distinguished Scholar Award from the Crime/Law/Deviance section of the ASA (1997).

Jock Young

Jock Young gained his Ph.D. at the London School of Economics on the ethnography of drug use in the Notting Hill area of West London in 1972. He received his BSc (1965) and MSc (1966) in Sociology at the London School of Economics. Always fascinated by criminology and the sociology of deviance he was a founding member of The National Deviancy Symposium—a group of radical criminologists. He started as a lecturer at what is now Middlesex University in 1966 and has remained there ever since. In 1986 he was made a full professor at Middlesex University and became Head of the Centre for Criminology. Dr. Young has written on a variety of topics including general sociology, abortion, mass media, urban riots and left realist criminology. Dr. Young's most recent publication is The New Criminology Revisited with Paul Walton and he just finished a book called The Exclusive Society: Social Exclusion, Crime and Difference in Late Modernity. He is married to Jayne Mooney and they have two sons Joseph (age 3) and Fintan (age 6 months). His eldest son Jesse (age 21) is studying to be a painter and can't understand what all the fuss about criminology is about.

Margaret Zahn

Margaret Zahn holds a Ph.D. from the Ohio State University and has contributed to research in the area of homicide for over 25 years. She has co-edited three books in the area. She has published over 27 articles, with one of the first being on drugs and homicide which opened investigation of that topic and another first on viewing violence as a public health issue (with Mark Rosenblum). Dr. Zahn has been principle investigator (or co-principle investigator) in a total of $864,000 in funded research, with $445,000 specifically related to homicide. Her studies have contributed to extensive data on homicide in American cities, especially in Philadelphia and Phoenix and has expanded knowledge on victim offender relationships as well as changing patterns in U.S. homicide. In addition to research, Dr. Zahn has an impressive administrative career. She is currently Dean of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences at the University of North Carolina-Charlotte, having served as an Associate Dean of Research and Interdisciplinary Programs in the College of Arts and Sciences and Chair of the Department of Sociology and Anthropology. Prior to this she was Chair of the Department of Sociology, Social Work and Criminal Justice at Northern Arizona University. Dr. Zahn has also been an active and contributing member of ASC for over 30 years and currently serves as President.

Policing & Society An International Journal of Research & Policy

http://www.gbhap.com/Policing\_Society/

Edited by James Sheptycki, Centre for Law and Society,
University of Edinburgh, Old College, South Bridge, Edinburgh EH8 9YL, UK

Policing & Society is concerned with the activity of policing and the factors which affect it. A major part of this material concerns the police — social scientific investigations of police policy, legal analyses of police powers and their constitutional status, and management oriented research on aspects of police organization. Space is also devoted to the relationship between what the police do and the policing decision functions of community groups, private sector organizations, and other state agencies. As such, it is aimed at academics from most of the social science disciplines, as well as police and other practitioners involved in social regulation and control. Policing & Society provides a genuinely international forum and has correspondents in most countries where there is a tradition of research and academic inquiry into all aspects of policing. The journal is committed to rigorous policy debate and the highest standards of scholarship.

A Selection of Papers: Policing Hong Kong, John Ugg • Security Intelligence Versus Criminal Intelligence, Stuart Farson • Police Questioning Techniques in Tape Recorded Interviews with Criminal Suspects, Stephen Moston and Terry Engelberg • Some Observations on Policing and Politics — A South African Case Study, John Brewer • A Bird in the Cage: Police and Political Leadership in Post-Mao China, *H.L. ## Corrections in Canada: History, Operations and Issues

Colin Goff, University of Winnipeg

Corrections in Canada provides clear and comprehensive coverage of the correctional system in Canada. The book explores the historical background of the system, from the establishment of Canada's first prison, Kingston, through the development of both federal and provincial correctional facilities.

In-depth exploration of contemporary issues in corrections is highlighted with historical notes on special issues, such as prisoners' rights and the special needs of female and aboriginal inmates. Probation and conditional release programs are discussed in detail, and intermediate punishments are explained and analyzed in terms of their effectiveness.

Criminal Women

Joycelyn M. Pollock, Southwest Texas State University

Criminal Women provides thorough examination of female crime patterns based on broad, consistent and longstanding findings regarding women's crime rates. A critical approach is used to explore which criminological theories best explain female criminality, including the earliest and the most recent theories, and the classic as well as the controversial. This brand new title revisits the standard criminological theories, but does so with a focus upon how well they explain the gender differences in criminal behavior. Issues discussed relative to the criminology of the female offender include post-modernism; problems of crime measurement; violent, property and drug crimes; juvenile delinquency; girl gangs; race; methodological concerns of the chivalry hypothesis; theoretical concerns; classic theory versus positivism; biological, biosocial and psychological theories; social structure theories; social process theories; feminist criminology; economic marginalization; and policy implications, including retributive versus restorative justice.

POSITION ANNOUNCEMENTS

THE CRIMINOLOGIST will regularly feature in these columns position vacancies available in organizations and universities, as well as positions sought by members of the Society.

A charge of $50 for up to 125 words and $10 for each additional 25 words will be made. The charge will be waived for institutional members of ASC.

It is the policy of ASC to publish position vacancy announcements only from those institutions or agencies which subscribe to equal educational and employment opportunities and those which encourage women and minorities to apply.

Institutions should indicate the deadline for submission of application materials.

The Professional Employment Exchange will be a regular feature at each Annual Meeting. Prospective employers and employees should register with the Society no later than three weeks prior to the Annual Meeting of the Society. Appropriate forms may be obtained by writing to the ASC offices in Columbus, Ohio.

To place announcements in The Criminologist, send all material to: Angela Patton, Managing Editor, THE CRIMINOLOGIST, Department of Criminal Justice, University of Nebraska at Omaha, 6001 Dodge Street, Omaha, NE 68182-0149. Telephone: (402) 554-2610, FAX (402) 554-2326. E-mail address: apatton@facpacs.unomaha.edu.

When sending announcements, please include a phone number, fax number and contact person in the event we have questions about an ad. The deadline date for the November/December issue is October 1, 1998.

American Bar Foundation invites applications from highly qualified scholars to join its community of resident Research Fellows. Please note that ABF Research Fellowships are continuing, not visiting appointments. Both rank and field are open. Part-time appointments undertaken in cooperation with area institutions, as well as full-time appointments, can be considered. Candidates must have completed a law degree or a Ph.D. in a relevant discipline. Senior candidates must be able to demonstrate outstanding scholarship; junior candidates must demonstrate outstanding potential. Salaries and fringe benefits (including TIAA-CREF) are competitive with those at leading research universities. Applications from minorities and women are especially encouraged. The American Bar Foundation is an independent research institute pursuing empirical study of law and legal institutions. ABF research fellows initiate, develop, conduct and publish their own and collaborative scholarly research funded through the ABF's own financial resources or through grants made to individual projects by government agencies and private foundations. The Foundation also provides extensive support services, including research assistance and technical support. Research Fellows have full use of the libraries and computer facilities at Northwestern University and the University of Chicago. Research currently underway includes both basic and applied empirical research, undertaken from a variety of disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives: anthropology, criminology, economics, history, law, political science, psychology, and sociology. All applications must include a: (1) covering letter, (2) 400-word statement of current research activities and future plans, (3) resume/cv, (4) copies of the applicants three leading publications (senior applicants) or other evidence of scholarship (junior applicants). All applicants should also request two referees to forward confidential letters of support directly to the Foundation. Screening of applications will commence immediately and continue until an appointment is made. Applications received before December 1, 1998, will receive full consideration. All application materials should be sent to: John P. Heinz, Chair, Appointments Committee, American Bar Foundation, 750 North Lake Shore Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Candidates who are ABD will be considered if they have a reasonable expectation of completing all degree requirements, including dissertation defense by May 15, 2000. Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. Applicants should submit a letter detailing both educational and professional preparation for the position, including position number, a curriculum vita, three letters of reference, and official transcripts. To ensure full consideration, please apply by December 15, 1998. A review of applications will begin on that date and continue until position is filled. Submit application materials to: Dr. Thomas Ellsworth, Chairperson, Faculty Search Committee, 5250 Criminal Justice Sciences, Illinois State University, Normal, IL 61760-5250. Illinois State University is an equal opportunity/affirmative action university encouraging diversity.

Indiana University of Pennsylvania. This is a continuation of an ongoing search. The Department of Criminology invites applications for three full time, tenure-track, Assistant/Associate Professor positions to begin Fall 1998. Our department, which has the largest undergraduate enrollment in IUP's College of Humanities and Social Sciences, offers Bachelors, Masters, and Doctorate degrees. Position #1 & #2: Applicants must have research interests in two of the following areas: Law and Society, Criminal Law, Quantitative Methods, Ethnic and Minority issues in Criminology/Criminal Justice, Etiology of Delinquency, Juvenile and Adult Intervention Strategies. Position #3: Applicants must have a strong focus in law enforcement and criminal justice. For each position candidates must have a Ph.D. in Criminology, Criminal Justice, or a closely related social science discipline. We are seeking three persons with a commitment to teaching at the undergraduate and graduate levels and to pursuing an active research agenda. The successful applicants will have some undergraduate advising responsibilities. Applicants for each position should forward a letter of application indicating interest in position #1, #2, or #3 (including number), a current vita, official transcripts, names and telephone numbers of three references, and copies of publications or writing samples, to Dr. Rosemary L. Gido, Chair-Search Committee, Department of Criminology, IUP, Indiana, PA 15705. The Department is interested in having persons identified for the positions by the end of the first of AY 1997-1998. Priority will be given to applications received by December 1, 1998, but applications will be considered until the positions are filled. IUP is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity/Americans with Disabilities Act institution. Women and minorities are strongly encouraged to apply.

Kent State University, Stark Campus. Invites applications for a tenure-track Assistant Professor to teach courses in criminal justice, Fall semester, 1999. Candidates should be able to teach courses across the discipline but should have particular expertise in the corrections and policing areas. A demonstrable interest in teaching undergraduate students, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and scholarly potential are essential. A Ph.D. in criminal justice or a clearly related field; e.g., sociology, political science, public administration, psychology is required. Kent State University, Stark Campus is the largest regional campus in a 30,000 student, eight campus system. The campus offers general education for virtually all of the University's many undergraduate degree programs, seven complete undergraduate programs including criminal justice, and a masters of business administration. The University Department of Criminal Justice has 13 members and offers both baccalaureate and masters degrees. Kent Stark is located on a beautiful 200 acre campus situated in the midst of a highly developed commercial area between Canton and Akron, Ohio. It is six miles from the Canton/Akron Airport and is a one-hour drive from Cleveland. Review of applications will begin October 23, 1998, and continue until the position is filled. To apply, please send letter of interest, curriculum vita, three letters of reference, and graduate transcripts to: Dr. William Bittle, Dean, KSU Stark Campus, 6000 Frank Avenue, NW, Canton, OH 44720. Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.

Lindesmith Center. Soros Fellowships in Drug Policy Studies. The Lindesmith Center ("TLC") is a public education and research institute concerned with broadening the debate on drug policy and related issues. It invites applications for a limited number of fellowships to support social science, humanities, and policy research on the history and politics of drug prohibition as well as its costs, consequences and alternatives. Proposals from outside the United States are welcome. Preference will be given to meritorious proposals that are unlikely to be funded by government agencies. ### The New Structure of Organized Crime: The National and International Interface

Sponsored by: The Criminal Justice Center, The College of New Jersey, Trenton, New Jersey
Brower Student Center
October 29, 1998

This symposium will address the fact that organized crime has been changing rapidly over the last several decades and that criminal justice agencies in the United States are currently confronted with highly adaptive and economically powerful national and international criminal organizations. Rapid and unexpected political, economic and technological changes are allowing them to expand and diversify their global operations. Much of the increased strength of these criminal organizations is due to their ability to network and develop cooperative relationships with other criminal organizations and their skill in exploiting societal and governmental weaknesses. These issues and others will be explored by an outstanding group of organized crime experts and will be the first in an annual series of seminars on the subject. Reservations are limited.

MARIST COLLEGE

DEAN, SCHOOL OF SOCIAL AND BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES

Marist College is seeking candidates to replace the Dean of the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences who, after long and distinguished service, is retiring. The Dean reports to the Academic Vice President/Dean of Faculty and is a member of the President's Cabinet and the Deans' Council.

Qualifications:

In addition to specific school requirements, the Dean is expected to be entrepreneurial and able to expand the connections of the College with diverse constituencies, have a successful record as academic administrator, fund-raiser and/or grant writer, have the commitment and skills to enhance the academic reputation of the College as a liberal arts and values based educational institution which emphasizes teaching excellence and provides first-rate career preparation, promote the dissemination of technology into the classroom, have experience in outcomes assessment, and support the School of Graduate and Continuing Education with the development of new programs, distance learning, delivery and recruitment of new constituencies. The Dean will teach at least one course a year and must have a terminal degree and a record of successful teaching and research suitable for senior faculty appointment.

The School of Social and Behavioral Sciences offers undergraduate degree programs in criminal justice, psychology, psychology/elementary and special education, and social work, and master's degree programs in community and counseling psychology, school psychology, and educational psychology. The curriculum also includes programming leading to certification in secondary education. In addition, there is an accelerated BA/MA program combining the psychology/elementary and special education major with an MA in educational psychology. Besides undergraduate certification in secondary education, there are advanced certificate programs in elementary education, secondary education, and learning and technology. Preparation has begun for a five-year program combining the BA in criminal justice and the master's in public administration. Currently the School enrolls approximately 950 undergraduate majors and 150 graduate students supported by approximately 100 full-time and part-time faculty members.

The Dean chairs the School's Council of Department Chairs and Program Directors. The Dean's primary responsibilities include strategic planning and implementation; operational planning and implementation; budgeting; program and project development and administration including the enhancement of revenue streams; and faculty/staff recruitment, development, and evaluation. Additionally the Dean oversees the School's interface with external accrediting bodies, external professional agencies, and offices within the college's internal organizational structure. The Dean has primary responsibility for promoting the growth, development, image, visibility and fiscal viability of Social and Behavioral Sciences. The Dean supervises the Coordinator of Community Research Projects whose office provides professional research outreach to the community.

Strong preference will be given to candidates with the following additional qualifications: an ability to build upon and continue strengthening the academic ties and interdisciplinary programming among the school's disciplines; experience in fostering the use of instructional technology and the implementation of distance learning programs; knowledge of national accreditation issues particularly in teacher education; and a commitment to and effectiveness in enhancing diversity in the recruitment of faculty/students and in curriculum developments.

Marist College is a comprehensive, independent, liberal arts institution located in Poughkeepsie, New York on the banks of the Hudson River, midway between Albany and New York City. It enrolls 3,390 full-time and 545 part-time undergraduates and 550 graduate students. The College is in the midst of a major building expansion with recently completed student housing, bookstore, art gallery, and student center, and the beginning of the construction of a state of the art library, new residence hall, and faculty office/classroom complex. Marist was recognized by CAUSE as one of the top four colleges and universities in the U.S. for its innovative use of technology and excellence in campus networking. Our technology base was developed through a joint study with the IBM Corporation—the second phase of the joint study is currently being implemented with the creation of a digital library. Visit our home page at <http://www.marist.edu>.

To Apply:

Screening of candidates will begin immediately. However, nominations and applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Preferred starting date is January, 1999. A later date may be negotiable. Applications, including a current curriculum vitae, list of references, and a letter of intent addressing the requirements and qualifications listed above, should be addressed to: Chair, Dean of the School of Social and Behavioral Sciences Search Committee, c/o Office of Human Resources, MPO 950, ACA-DSBS, Marist College, Poughkeepsie, NY 12601.

An Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action Employer.

Dean of the College of Criminal Justice and Director of the George J. Beto Criminal Justice Center

Sam Houston State University

Sam Houston State University is searching for a person to fill the position of Dean of the College of Criminal Justice and Director of the George J. Beto Criminal Justice Center. The position will begin on or before August 1, 1999. Qualifications are a doctoral degree in a relevant field; a record of scholarly achievement that merits appointment as a full professor with tenure; prior experience as a faculty member at a college or university; demonstrated administrative experience; and a capacity for leadership and collaboration with academics, practitioners, and public officials.

The Criminal Justice Center is dedicated to the goal of excellence in criminal justice education, research, and professional development. The Dean and Director reports directly to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and oversees the activities of faculty and staff in the College of Criminal Justice and the George J. Beto Criminal Justice Center. As Dean, the person functions as the chief academic officer of the College of Criminal Justice, which offers BS, BA, MS, MA, and Ph.D. degrees. The College has 28 full-time faculty and 12 support staff, and approximately 1,400 students are enrolled in its academic programs. Faculty members hold degrees in criminal justice, criminology, psychology, sociology, public administration, history, and law. As Director of the George J. Beto Criminal Justice Center, the person is responsible for the oversight of the Correctional Management Institute of Texas (CMIT), the Bill Blackwood Law Enforcement Management Institute of Texas (LEMIT), and the University Hotel and conference center. CMIT and LEMIT are institutes that provide professional education programs for state judges, probation and parole officers, substance abuse professionals, and law enforcement executives. As Director, the successful applicant will supervise approximately 25 professional staff who administer programs to 6,000 participants annually. The combined annual budgets of the Criminal Justice Center exceed $6.2 million.

Sam Houston State University is located in Huntsville, 70 miles north of Houston. For additional information concerning the University, the George J. Beto Criminal Justice Center, and the community, please consult our Internet site at www.shsu.edu.
