American Society of Criminology embodies the following objectives:

1. To bring together, in one multidisciplinary society, persons actively engaged in research teaching, and/or practice in the field of criminology.
2. To foster criminological scholarship, research, education, and training within academic institutions and within the divisions of the criminal justice system, including public and private agencies concerned with crime, justice, and corrections.
3. To encourage scholarly, scientific, and practical exchange and cooperation among those engaged in criminology.
4. To serve as a forum for the dissemination of criminological knowledge.

WELCOME TO SAN FRANCISCO!

ASC President:

Valerie Jenness, University of California Irvine

Program Co-Chairs:

Charis Kubrin, University of California Irvine

Jennifer Macy, University of California Irvine, Dominguez Hills

with assistance from Jordan Grasso, University of California Irvine

Dear Colleagues,

As President of the American Society of Criminology, it is my great pleasure to welcome you to the 2024 annual meetings in the dynamic and historically rich City of San Francisco. This City by the Bay, known for its iconic Golden Gate Bridge, rolling cable cars, and the eerie allure of Alcatraz, serves as a fitting backdrop for our annual meetings. The theme of this meeting, “Criminological Research and Education Matters: People, Policy, and Practice in Tumultuous Times,” is also fitting as we meet just days after a historic national election.

San Francisco's history is a vivid tapestry woven within sometimes mythical tales of the Gold Rush that too often render invisible land dispossession and genocide while emphasizing a surge of opportunity and lawlessness, as well as opportunity in lawlessness (for some but not others). From these origins, the city has become known as a beacon of counterculture. To quote a recent article in the New York Times, “the residents have always celebrated the new, the innovative, the cutting-edge. The weirder the better.”¹ The city makes national news as it confronts some of the most challenging problems found in urban space: As one of the wealthiest cities in the world, it also is home to an increasingly visible and problematized unsheltered population, sensational images of “smash and grab” crime and record high retail vacancy rates downtown, and the transformative economic consequences of the pandemic. It is a place to observe, contemplate, and read as a sign of changing times.

¹ Knight, Heather. 2024. “In Countercultural San Francisco, the Church has Become the Place to Be!” New York Times. August 10, 2024.

WELCOME TO SAN FRANCISCO!

I first enjoyed the city when, in my early 20s, I took a quick trip to Las Vegas, got bored in Sin City, and made an impromptu trip to San Francisco in the hopes of finding something more interesting. When I got there, I immediately loved the vibe. I've been visiting the city routinely for about four decades. I've never been disappointed. What I like most about the city, with its storied past and current challenges, is that it manages to foster an environment that is made all the richer because of diversity. The city's vibrancy stems from its heterogeneous population, each neighborhood a chapter in a larger narrative of resilience and cultural richness. Walking through the Mission District's colorful murals or the bustling streets of Chinatown, reminds me that criminologists and others interested in understanding the mysteries of our social work—criminological and otherwise—do well when they consider the diverse voices and experiences within any given community. The city's renowned fog reminds me that sometimes the path to clarity is through entering the unknown and the unexpected to ultimately discern once hidden truths.

Like San Francisco, the program for this year's annual meeting is rich, provocative, and diverse. The program includes eight presidential sessions, 318 thematic panels, 383 regular sessions, 43 author meets critics sessions, 20 lightning talk sessions, 321 posters, 173 roundtable sessions, and the usual events members have come to enjoy (e.g., workshops, the awards ceremony, ice cream social, receptions, etc.). We have scholars from more than two dozen countries on the program. There really is something for everyone! I especially encourage you to attend the presidential sessions that, by design, speak to our theme for the meeting; as such, I hope they are sites of gathering, contemplating, and engaging as a big tent community.

Most importantly, some public thank yous are in order. Charis Kubrin and Jenn Macy, the co-chairs of the program committee for this year's annual meeting, worked with Jordan Grasso (Graduate Student at University of California, Irvine) and Sheena Case (Deputy Director of ASC) to organize this program. I appreciate their labor, creativity, and commitment. I am also grateful for the colleagues who served on the ASC program committee, the ASC awards committees, and the ASC standing committees. They, too, are key to our collective efforts. Finally, thanks to the ASC staff, especially Chris Eskridge (Executive Director), who make the machinery of our organization work and by doing so create the ASC community as a community with value and longevity. If you run into any of these people in San Francisco, I hope you'll join me in saying thanks to these folks. It takes a village, to be sure.

WELCOME TO SAN FRANCISCO!

I hope you enjoy the meetings and your stay in this incredible city. If you're looking for a good place to eat and you really like garlic, I highly recommend The Stinking Rose Café. If that name doesn't epitomize the value of making the seemingly incompatible into something wonderful, I don't know what does!

See you in SF.

EMPLOYMENT EXCHANGE

The Employment Exchange, located on the Lower B2 Level in Salon 9, provides a professional employment resource for both employers and job seekers. Employers have posted details about available positions, and information regarding candidates registered with the Society will be on file. Our staff is available to facilitate interview scheduling in designated private areas. Employment Exchange hours are:

Wednesday	9:00 am – 5:00 pm
Thursday	9:00 am – 5:00 pm
Friday	9:00 am – 5:00 pm

PROGRAM LISTING AND INDEX

The program and participants index includes all individuals whose names were submitted to the ASC executive office before the program went to press. Please note that there may be cancellations not reflected in the print program. Any omissions or errors are unintentional, and we apologize in advance. For the most up-to-date schedule, please use the ASC Program mobile app.

PERSONAL HEALTH AND SECURITY

Your safety and well-being during the Annual Meeting are important. We encourage you to stay aware of your surroundings and keep personal belongings with you. Avoid leaving valuables in your room; if a safe is not available, ask the hotel front desk for assistance. Stay hydrated and familiarize yourself with the nearest emergency exits and hotel security protocols. All meeting areas are non-smoking. In case of a medical emergency, contact hotel staff or local emergency services immediately.

GENERAL MEETING INFORMATION

ANNUAL MEETING CODE OF CONDUCT

Introduction

As an organization, we uphold our Code of Ethics (approved March 2016). Section II #5 of the Code states, “In their professional activities, ASC members are committed to enhancing the general well-being of societies and of the individuals and groups within them. Thus, ASC members have an obligation to avoid forms of social injustice such as discrimination, oppression, or harassment.” Section II #10 of the Code states, “ASC members do not force, coerce, or obtain through manipulation personal favors, sexual activity or economic or professional advantages from any person including faculty, students, research respondents, clients, patients, research assistants, clerical staff or colleagues. ASC members will not engage in workplace harassment, aggression, or bullying of any kind.”

We remind all participants in ASC activities during the Annual Meeting that the Code of Ethics will be upheld so that all its members enjoy a welcoming environment free from unlawful discrimination, harassment and retaliation. We refer to this as the Code of Conduct.

Application

This policy applies to all participants in ASC activities, including but not limited to event attendees, professionals, students, guests, staff, contractors, exhibitors, and participants in scientific sessions, on tours, and other social events of any ASC meeting or other activity.

Expected Conduct

All participants at ASC meetings are expected to abide by the Code of Conduct in all meeting venues including ancillary events as well as official and unofficial social gatherings. This Code of Conduct is designed to reinforce the norms of professional respect that are necessary to promote the conditions for free academic interchange. If you witness potential harm to a conference participant, please be proactive, to the extent that you are comfortable, in helping to present or mitigate that harm.

Unacceptable conduct

Threatening physical or verbal actions and disorderly or disruptive conduct will not be tolerated. Harassment, including verbal comments relating to gender, sexual orientation, disability, race, ethnicity, religion, age, national origin, gender identity or expression, veteran status or other protected statuses, or sexual images in public spaces, deliberate intimidation, stalking, unauthorized or inappropriate photography or recording, inappropriate physical contact, and unwelcome sexual attention, will not be tolerated.

Adherence & Reporting

Annual Meeting participants & attendees bear the responsibility to adhere to the Code of Conduct. If you witness or experience an incident that violates this code, please report it immediately. You can contact Lighthouse Services anonymously at 855-222-0916, via email at reports@lighthouse-services.com (reference ASC), or by visiting <https://www.lighthouse-services.com/asc41>. Your cooperation helps ensure a safe and respectful environment for everyone.

Crime and Justice in Historical Perspective

Crime and Justice, Volume 53

Edited by Michael Tonry

Since 1979, the Crime and Justice series has presented a review of the latest international research, providing expertise to enhance the work of sociologists, psychologists, criminal lawyers, justice scholars, and political scientists. The series explores a full range of issues concerning crime, its causes, and its cures. In both the review and the occasional thematic volumes, Crime and Justice offers an interdisciplinary approach to address core issues in criminology.

Crime and Justice in Historical Perspective, a testimony to a renaissance in historical writing, distills the best of contemporary work on both sides of the Atlantic. In the final third of the twentieth century, celebrated scholarship documented the emergence and development of American police, courts, and prisons. Twenty-first century scholarship, invigorated by the emergence of social history perspectives, quantitative analyses of historical data, and comparative insights, revisits previous subjects and addresses new ones as seen through lenses sensitive to race, ethnicity, gender, and social class.
