

FACULTY POSITION IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE

The Department of Criminal Justice at Fayetteville State University invites applications for one tenure-track position at the Assistant Professor rank to begin in August 2025. Fayetteville State University is a constituent institution of the University of North Carolina, a historically Black university, and the second-oldest public institution of higher education in the state. Founded in 1867 as the Howard School for the education of African Americans, today FSU serves a growing student body of approximately 7,100 and ranks among the nation's most diverse campus communities. Fayetteville is located in the scenic Cape Fear River Valley of North Carolina, between the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Atlantic Ocean. Residents of Fayetteville enjoy mild temperatures, four distinct seasons, a low cost of living, and easy access to beautiful Carolina beaches.

The Department of Criminal Justice at Fayetteville State University is a community of active teacher-scholars, notable for its commitment to academic excellence, diversity in scholarship, and student development. The department has approximately 350 undergraduate majors and 40 graduate students. Online degree completion is available for the Bachelor of Science program, and the Master of Science and Graduate Certificate programs in Criminal Justice are available online. Responsibilities of faculty include teaching, research, and service. Areas of specialization are open. Applicants must hold the Ph.D. in criminal justice, criminology, or a closely related field. ABDs may apply, but we will only consider individuals who can reasonably expect to have their doctoral degree in hand by August 2025. The J.D. alone is not an appropriate degree for this position. Salary is commensurate with qualifications and experience. More details about the position can be found here: <https://jobs.uncfsu.edu/postings/26211>.

To apply, please submit a letter of application, current vita, teaching philosophy, official undergraduate and graduate transcripts, and three letters of recommendation on letterhead and with original signatures.

Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the positions are filled.
